SAN FRANCISCO ARTS COMMISSION

OVERVIEW OF PROGRAMS

Civic Design Review

The Civic Design Review Committee of architects and designers conducts a three-phase review of new and renovated civic construction projects to ensure design quality of City structures.

Community Arts & Education

Arts Education

The Arts Education Program works in collaboration with local funders to support grantmaking, artists-in-residence and professional development for SFUSD educators. The SFUSD Arts Education Master Plan was also spearheaded by this program.

Cultural Centers

The Arts Commission allocates funds annually for programs and operations of four City-owned community cultural centers – the African American Arts and Culture Complex; Bayview Opera House; Mission Cultural Center for Latino Arts; and South of Market Cultural Center (SoMarts also acts as fiscal agent for the Queer Cultural Center, Asian Pacific Islander Cultural Center and the Native American Cultural Center).

Neighborhood Festivals Grants

The Neighborhood Festival grant supports neighborhood festivals where art and culture are the main components for strengthening neighborhood ties.

Programs in the Community Grants

The grant for Programs in the Community supports nonprofit, non-arts organizations that use the arts to better serve their constituents. The program must have a public component.

WritersCorps

WritersCorps works to transform and strengthen individuals and communities through the written and spoken word. The program serves youth-in-need: aged 6-21, primarily low-income, incarcerated, immigrant, homeless, or educationally disadvantaged.

Cultural Equity Grants

Cultural Equity Grants provides support for the enrichment of San Francisco's diverse cultural landscape. Four programs (Cultural Equity Level 1 & Level 2; Individual Artists Grants; Creative Space; Organizational Project Grants) offer project-oriented grants to arts organizations and individual artists to nurture the continuing growth of a vibrant arts scene that celebrates the City's vast ethnic diversity and variety of cultural traditions.

Gallery

The Arts Commission Gallery showcases the work of Bay Area artists at several locations: the Veterans Building, 401 Van Ness Ave; the ground floor of City Hall, and window installations at 155 Grove Street.

Public Art Program

Art Enrichment / Percent for Art Courthouses, libraries, City offices, the airport and other civic structures are enlivened through this program, which integrates works by artists in the construction of City buildings and parks, as well as in broader urban design contexts, such as traffic and pedestrian malls and transit corridors.

Art on Market Street Program

Pedestrians are engaged year-round with artworks inspired by the history, ecology and cultures of Market Street, created by Bay Area artists. The program consists annually of four three-month poster series and two to three temporary projects in a variety of media, all taking place on or near Market Street.

Civic Collections

The Civic Art Collection program is responsible for cataloguing and conserving the more than 3,000 pieces of art belonging to the City outside its museums

Monuments

The Arts Commission is charged to serve as stewards of all the City's historic monuments—located in every neighborhood of San Francisco—ensuring their safety, upkeep, restoration and renovation.

Temporary Installations

Like the permanent arts installations overseen by the Public Art Program, temporary art commissions are also managed by the Arts Commission. The duration of these public visual artworks vary, but typically lasts six months.

Street Artists Licensing

San Francisco's street artists provide residents and visitors with a colorful outdoor marketplace that contributes to the economic life of the city.

Summer in the City

The Summer in the City “pops” concert series provides music lovers with diverse and affordable performances by our renowned San Francisco Symphony orchestra and a sparkling roster of guest artists in Davies Symphony Hall. The free San Francisco Symphony performance in Dolores Park each summer is also under the auspices of this program.

Public Art Program

Art Enrichment Program

Location / Artist / Project Name	Commission
Ocean View Branch Library	$112,000

345 Randall St.

Ocean View Library has more art per square foot than any other public building in the City. The front door is flanked by the much loved bas-relief murals created by Collette Crutcher and Mark Roller. On one side, a young tree represents Ocean View today, on the other, a mature tree, heavy with fruit in the form of letters and symbols, represents Ocean View's future.

Inside the building, the stairs, stairwell and upper hallway of the library were transformed by artist John Wehrle into an environment of flying words, letters and images based on quotes from literature and children's books. The artwork encompasses the ceiling, walls and floors of the space, as if the viewer were on a fantastic journey through the inside of a book.

Projects Currently Underway

Minnie and Lovie Ward Recreation Center	$135,000
--	------------------

650 Capitol Avenue

Jon Rubin and Jim Goldberg will create a photographic trophy wall of local residents to cover one wall in the community room.

Sunnyside Playground	$23,600

Melrose and Foerster Avenues

Deborah Kennedy was inspired by the playground's name and the sun motif on the entrance sign to create water-jet-cut steel panels for the park's metal fencing. Imagery is taken from NASA sun storm photos.

Numbers listed in italics indicate commissions awarded prior to the 2006-2007 FY. In many cases, these projects were completed during the FY, but were not part of this current year's budget. In general, permanent public art projects take several years to complete.

Shining Paths: San Francisco's Sister Cities

$45,000

Lewis deSoto's project is a tribute to San Francisco's 14 international sister cities. Silvered glass gobos project a light medallion for each city onto the terrazzo floors of the boarding areas in the International Terminal. Each medallion has an image of the aeronautical map of each city's airport, overlaid with the image of the city's flower

Projects Currently Underway

The San Francisco Arts Commission continues to add to the City's renowned art collection at SFO. Three more Bay Area artists were recently commissioned to create artworks for the 2-story gate room walls in the International Terminal, and SFAC has purchased a ceramic work for the sculpture court in Boarding Area C in Terminal 1. These artworks are being acquired with art enrichment funds generated by the Airport's Master Plan Projects. More than $10 million was spent on the artwork at SFO.
